Cleveland's Greater University Circle Initiative

In its 9 years, the Greater University Circle (GUC) Initiative continues to have success bringing together the area institutions for a collective vision that includes the surrounding neighborhoods. The Cleveland Foundation continues to convene GUC leaders around the delivery of the shared physical development projects, neighborhood stabilization initiatives and inclusive programs for residents.

John Hemsath - Retired - Director of Theater Operations

The History of Playhouse Square

In the late 1960s Cleveland, and, in particular its downtown had been written off by many corporations and a lot of the population. In the early 1970s a grass roots effort was begun to save the historic theaters in Playhouse Square in downtown Cleveland. That modest beginning led to the incredible rebirth of downtown which is blossoming today. How did Playhouse Square come into existence in 1921? In particular what were the technological developments that caused its birth, and changed its course? And what is the business model that has made it so successful?
